

Rock of Ages

Review

First of all I would like to deeply thank the Drama and Music department of St Patrick's College for making all of this happen.

- The Actors.
- The Band.
- The Lighting and Sound crew.
- The Backstage helpers.
- The Prop Department.
- The Dancers
- And last but not least the Costume Department

If I still didn't mention you, You know who you are!

Lets begin.

Possibly my favourite part was when Dennis realises that the band was behind them the entire time. When the actors had their ups and downs and when we later find out that Dennis died and came back as an angel and his shirt said "Choose Life".

Drew and Sherrie were so into it and they were filling the Lavala Centre with energy. The comedy was used really well especially since it's set in America, the spotlight was set on all of them. I understand it must have been a really nerve wracking experience for the actors since it's the first really large audience to perform to but I think you did an incredible job.

The lighting and sound crew were amazing making it sound just right. My favourite song out of the musical had to be 'Don't Stop Believing'. All of the dancing and singing it was so cooperative, the fact that they were able to pull this off was truly incredible. I am so excited to arrive at St Patrick's Marist College next year.

Overall I had an insane time at Rock of Ages and I really enjoyed it
